

A group of people are participating in a tree-planting activity in a field. They are surrounded by young saplings and are using tools like shovels to work the soil. The scene is set in a natural, outdoor environment with trees in the background.

SPEND THE DAY SAVING TREES!

More Trees Now rescues excess saplings that grow in places where they cannot mature. We scoop them out and collect them, to give away for free. This way, every tree has a second chance.

These saplings can mature with farmers, food forests or other members of the public, in countless gardens. Excess saplings are a source of sustainable, free and often native planting material from Mother Nature's nursery. By rolling up our sleeves to save these trees, we can help our environment. Will you join us?

At ..... we will rescue saplings at ..... These saplings cannot mature because ....., what a waste! On a sapling rescue day you will learn everything about this ecosystem, trees in wintertime, have a short green workout, and most importantly: have a great time! All ages are welcome, with and without a green thumb!
